

William Rabb was known as a childhood friend of William Chronicle in the South Fork neighborhood (Belmont NC). They died on the boulders at the northeast end of Kings Mountain and were buried together on the battlefield.